

Announcing...

2011 Tours by Celtic Force Enterprises, Inc.

Based on the success of the recent Scotland Homecoming Tour, Celtic Force will be doing it again next year. Yes, and more than once!

Feedback from our first trip was excellent. We've been told we've hit the ideal formula for distinctive tours... mixing history & people, faces & places, music & merriment, food & fun, all combined to deliver smiles and lifetime memories. On a scale kept both personal and intimate.

Now under consideration are 3 tours in Scotland and 1 for St. Patrick's Day in Ireland.

We start next January in Glasgow with the Celtic Connections, the world class music festival. We will enjoy the music in the city over two weekends and see Scotland during the week. This trip will certainly appeal to the Celtic music lover!

In July we're suggesting "On the Trail of David R Ross" using David's book "Desire Lines" to guide our course, visiting those places David felt were unique and special. Experience the re-enactment of the battle of Killiecrankie, which marked the beginning of the "Jacobite risings" in the late 1600's.

3 Scotland Tours... ...1 for Ireland!

Later in 2011 we will partner with one of the musical groups we work with from the US to take their fans to Scotland on a special adventure.

Finally, going to Ireland during the St. Patrick's Day holiday really needs little hype, it will be a great trip featuring some wonderful landscapes and fantastic music. See Ireland first hand during one of its most glorious times of the year.

Keep checking back for details and start telling your friends and saving your pennies.
