Mother Grove... Kilt Rock tour of Scotland!

Always wanted to visit Scotland? Wanted to visit AND see Mother Grove LIVE in Scotland?

Here's your chance... announcing The Mother Grove Scotland Tour 2011.

You know their music. You sense their inspiration with roots from both Ireland and Scotland.

You've been thrilled through shared experiences at various USA Highland Games, Celtic festivals, and other events and venues over the years.

Now, come "home" for an even more incredible Mother Grove experience:

November, 2-9, 2011.

Scotland!

Mother Grove... experience "Kilt Rock" in Scotland!

Come join us for 7 days/ 6 nights of revelry and barn-storming. Nights in Stirling, Edinburgh, and Inverness. Days for touring Scotland's historic places and stunning scenery along with Mother Grove AND under the inspired leadership of noted author and friend Hugh Allison.

You'll see surprising things and meet intriguing people... not just the famous names and places but the "real" Scotland of both yesterday and today. Together with Mother Grove, you'll feel the vibrancy of Scotland's past, present AND future.

Oh, and music? Meet special friends as well!

(Note dates subject to change by 1-2 days at this early point).

"Culloden Tales" is an oft-times haunting, intriguing, occasionally humorous, and totally inspiring collection of the stories past and present of this hallowed place of Scottish history.

Experience Scotland with Hugh Allison!

Those acquainted with Hugh Allison know his passion for the rich tapestry of Scottish history.

A native of Lochaber, growing up as the son of a family doctor in a wee town, Hugh lives the Scottish experience. He was taught the tradition of the "Seanachaidh" the guardian of tales. Hugh can tell stories!

As former manager of the Culloden Battlefield Centre for Scotland's National Trust, Hugh knows what a moving experience a visit there can be. His book

Scotland Tour Teasers...

Beginning the tour, our headquarters shall be Stirling, one of Scotland's oldest and most vibrant cities. Walk its streets of history, see The Castle, The Bridge, feel where Bruce and Wallace and other famous Scots have surely been.

Darting out from Stirling, you'll have opportunity to see Bannockburn, Loch Lomond and Glasgow City. Spend daytime in Glasgow seeing The Cathedral, Museums, and historic sites. Shop Sauchiehall Street, look for Charles Rennie Mackintosh's Willow Tea Room, spend nighttime in a West End pub crawl. And more!

Plan on trekking up into The Highlands to see such places as Glencoe, Loch Ness, Inverness, Culloden, and Blair Atholl. We might even drop by the wee toon of Pitlochry!

Finally, visit Edinburgh, City of Literature, where we'll spend a couple days. Walk its famous Royal Mile and tour Edinburgh Castle. Experience St. Giles Cathedral, The Writers' Museum, and shop 'til you drop!

Other delightful possibilities include:

- An evening of music with the legendary Ted Christopher.
- Optional tour and tasting at The Whisky Heritage Centre.
- Mary King's Close... a supernatural experience, to be sure!
- A Castle Evening with Jim Malcolm, in concert.
- Clava Cairns and the stones that inspired Diana Gabaldon.
- Castle Urquhart on Loch Ness (see something in the water?)
